

Percent of Adults Completing High School in Appalachia, 1990

Compared with the U.S. Average

The high school completion rate is the percentage of adults, 25 years and over, completing 12 years or more of school. The percent of the U.S. average is computed by dividing the county high school completion rate by the national average and multiplying by 100.

Percent of the U.S. Average

U.S. average = 75.2%
Appalachian average = 68.3%